INTRODUCTION

Clean and efficient energy generation by environment friendly methods and technologies is now one of the major challenges worldwide. The development of advanced innovative and economic components for new and renewable energy systems is a major concern. The cooperation between Italian and Egyptian R & D centers in this field represents the backbone for sustainable technology transfer and creation of investment opportunities between the two countries.

OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the workshop is to create a platform for continuous cooperation between Italian and Egyptian R & D centers as well as industrial partners in the field of energy and related materials focusing on :

- Solar Energy
- Wind Energy
- Fuel Cells
- Energy Storage Systems
- Materials For Energy Applications

ORGANIZERS

- The Central Metallurgical Research & Development Institute (CMRDI), Cairo, Egypt.
- Academy of Scientific Research and Technology, ASRT, Egypt.
- University of Genoa , Italy
- National Research Council (CNR), Italy

The workshop will be conducted under the auspices of The National Research Council (CNR Italy) and the Egyptian Academy of scientific Research & Technology with the participation of the Italian Institute of Energy in Padova and Turin Polytechnic; also EU & RDI support this event. Distinguished Italian and European R & D Centers & companies are participating in the workshop
